And now for “Your Best is Yet to Come”.

Nathaniel Bronner: Amen, amen and amen. “My Best is Yet to Come”. I said, “My Best is Yet to Come.” I said, “My Best is Yet to Come,; and you said I know there have been some tough times in this season, but “My Best is Yet to Come”. There is something to God you spoke this morning, I believe it, and ought to believe that too, “Your Best is Yet to Come”. Yes, there’s been some issues, and yes, you’re going through some things right now, but what you have to understand is your “Best is Tet to Come.”

I know some of you are saying, “Well, Pastor, I will turn 65, Thursday.” You said, “How do you say, ‘Your Best is Yet to Come’ and you’re going to be 65. When your best have been at 25?” No. “My Best is Yet to Come.” And so you’ve have to give your mind to really where your future is not where your present is, because you may not be in the best situation right now, but what you have to understand is, “Your Best is Yet to Come”. And see, for those of you who are 50, I want you to understand, this is nothing spiritual, this is all psychological statistics.

People who are 60 are happier than folks who are 50. There is something about it, they’ve done all of the studies as they general rule. Now this is a mass aggregate that has nothing to do with the individual. This is the mass aggregate. People who are 60 are happier than people who are 50, but it gets better. You’ll see it gets better. People who are 70 are happier than people who are 60. This is what -- all of it, you’re going to get in your 70s, this is what the chart show, but it gets even better. You’re like this in TVs, “But wait, there’s more.”

People who are 80 are happier than people who are 70. So when God speaks to me, “Your Best is Yet to Come” it jives with the science. Because one thing I know about me, I’m not going to be in that bottom group by any chance. So, if there’s any group of people who are 60, or 70, or 80, or 90, or 100 -- now, I've got this promise of living to a 116, trust me when I hit 110, I'm going to be pretty happy about that. So "My Best is Yet to Come" because so many of us have gone through so much in this prior season because all of the stuff that's happened. You got to have a vision and you have to have an understanding of that, and you have to believe it in your soul, because I believe this in my soul, "My Best is yet to Come." I believe this without question, "My Best is Yet to Come."

Now, you do need to do some things to help facilitate that. You cannot just lay there talking about "My Best is Yet to Come." No, no. There are some things that you will need to do because nature itself will try to keep you from that. That's the things of the earth. That's the things of the flesh. It will try to keep you from there because your flesh will tell you, "I'm getting old." I've got aches(ph) that I never had before, but my best is still yet to come. And even though I may not be at 65, what I was at 25, I'm some things at 65 that I wouldn't at 25.

So when I look at the whole factor and the whole package, and I'm going to be some things at 75 that I'm not at 65. So I am telling you "My Best is Yet to Come" and there's no reason in the world why your best is not yet to come. So I just wanted to just leave you that because this is the last Sunday service of the year, and I want you to understand as you move into this next season, as you move into this next year, your best is still yet to come, it hadn't gotten you yet.

And I'm going to tell you people, I've had some good times in the past. I have not had a bad life by any stretch, I've had a phenomenal life, but my best is still yet to come. And I'm not just -- you know, sometime folks just get them easiest to be talking. So I believe that. I believe that to my soul, "My Best is Yet to Come" because I was happier this year than I was last year, and I'm going to be happier next year than I am this year. So my best -- I'm moving in that direction. Which direction are you moving in? And when you start gearing it, when you start saying it, and when you start speaking it, and when you start doing, "Your Best is Yet to Come". That thing will start manifesting in itself, and things will start rolling into your world, and you'll start seeing some changes.

Now, it has nothing to do with what you see around. You are what you see other folks are going. There are some folks in my age, “Oh, [unintelligible]”. I don’t give a hoot back then. When you start jumping, and when you start shouting, and when you start moving, and when you start rejoicing, there will be some things in your world that will change and stuff will happen, and the vibe embrace, will just make a difference, and it does not matter, because you will see folks around you who have an entirely different mentality and they will have an entirely different result. “My Best is Yet to Come.”

Now, I’m going to have some classmates not going to be there with me. Nothing I can do about that. I’m going to do my best, but there’s nothing I can do about that. I have nothing to do about what they choose and declare over their world, “My Best is Yet to Come.”

And if you believe that, you don’t have to turn to your neighbor, you just tell God that “My Best is Yet to Come” and God will hear your declaration, and the angels will have to get up. There will be some angels on the other side there, “Wait a minute, I hear somebody and (00:07:15). They’re declaring that their “Best is Yet to Come”.

I got to get up and get over there and make that thing happen. And believe me, I’ve seen this stuff happen with just cause of where when you talked negative. That’s why I don’t ever saying anything negative about my car, because my car is me. That thing will start to be acting, and I’ve seen metal do that, and rubber and glass, and you can imagine if it does that, what does your flesh do? Because it can hear what you’re saying. “My Best is Yet to Come.”

I was running on the treadmill this morning and sometimes you get tired, but you have to speak to your body, because it hears you. I had trouble with plantar fasciitis, which is a sprain in the ligament of a heel, it makes your heel hurts sometimes. So when I was running along, I got rid of all that stuff. Sometimes, you got to speak to your body, “Stop that, you’re feeling great, stop that.” He’s got a commander. “Oh, I’m aching.” Yes, you’re going to be aching, because you’re telling yourself that. And some of this is spiritual, but a whole lot of it like its medical, is psychological, it’s even called the placebo effect. The placebo effect is strong, it’s Nathaniel Bronner: Amen, amen. You make all things new and I will follow you. Amen. Bow your heads. Dear Heavenly Father, I just thank you. Oh, I thank you for the promises, but I thank you for what has already been delivered? Father, I just praise your name for life, the health, the strength, but just even the words that you spoke, "The Best is Yet to Come" and I believe it, Father. And I believe it, not just because of this material Earthly life, but I believe the best is still even yet to come on the other side of glory.

Father, I thank you. I just thank you. I pray today that you continue to take control of every word that I shall speak, every thought that I should think, every breath that I shall inhale and exhale. Let it be our view and from you. I pray that you open the hearts and minds of the people that they should receive that, which you shall speak unto them on this day, and thy son Jesus His name, we pray. Amen.
